

Yoshua, 4 months, Guatemala

Yoshua

Four-month-old Yoshua is starving. Weighing only 2 pounds, his severely malnourished body is desperately in need of lifesaving food.

His parents do the best they can for their precious baby, but every day is a major struggle. The global pandemic on top of years of drought and crop failure have only made food insecurity more extreme in Guatemala.

Yoshua's mother, Nataly, was unable to breastfeed Yoshua after testing positive for COVID-19. When his father, German, lost his baking job trying to care for his new son, Yoshua's health and weight deteriorated even more.

If Yoshua is to grow up healthy, proper nourishment is vital.

Your loving gift to Food For The Poor provides Yoshua, and children like him, with food and lifesaving medicine.
